

On a bright March Sunday a group of hardy community gardeners harvested tasty parsnips and started to prepare the garden for this growing year. The garden composters were found to be full of well rotted garden waste that the gardeners put onto the raised beds to help the soil structure. Then to get the growing year under way the group happily planted some onion sets and garlic bulbs and sowed several rows of broad beans seeds. Join us for more seed sowing.

Community garden lease renewed

The garden group can continue to grow fruit and vegetables in the community garden for a further two years as the lease with LB Lewisham is now renewed. Many thanks to the LMCG committee, especially Ralph White, for their work on this.
